DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1-13 are pending.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

2. Claims 1-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Briceno et al (US 5,977,049) in view of Promidium Brochure (5/98).

Briceno et al teach an aqueous liquid composition comprising an anionic surfactant in cleansing effective quantities, a primary ethoxylated alcohol of the structure $R(OCH_2CH_2)_nOH$ wherein R is an alkyl of about 10 to about 14 carbon atoms and n is an average number of 6 to 10 in carbanilide stabilizing and solubilizing effective quantities, a carbanilide antibacterial agent present in an antibacterial effective amount but no more than about 2% by weight of the composition, the balance being water. See column 1, lines 25-45. Briceno et al also teach the use of various solubilizing agents in combination with TCC. See column 7, lines 1-45. Additionally, optional ingredients such as various skin feel agents, moisturizers, occlusive agents, fragrances and the like as well as preservatives, colors, etc. may also be used. See column 6, lines 35-50 and column 9, lines 35-60.

Promidium Brochure teaches that Promidium CO (PPG-2 hydroxyethyl cocamide) provides excellent foam boosting, foam stabilizing and viscosity building properties. It will readily solubilize most fragrances or essential oils into anionic systems. Further, Promidium is ideally suited for a wide range of personal care products including body and shower cleansers, bubble baths, facial cleansers and other cleansing products. See page 1. Note that, Promidium teaches the use of PPG-2 hydroxyethyl cocamide in antibacterial handwash and shampoos. See page 2.

Art Unit: 1751

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art, at the time the invention was made, to use PPG-2 hydroxyethyl cocamide in the cleaning composition taught by Briceno et al, with a reasonable expectation of success, because Promidium teaches the advantageous properties including solubilizing, foaming, etc., imparted to a similar antibacterial personal cleansing composition when using PPG-2 hydroxyethyl cocamide, and further, Briceno et al teach the inclusion of optional adjuvants which would encompass PPG-2 hydroxyethyl cocamide.

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 1-13 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-23 of U.S. Patent No. 5,977,049 in view of Promidium Brochure (5/1998).

Claims 1-13 of US 5,977,049 suggest all of the claim limitations of instant claims 1-13 except for the inclusion of a specific amide compound (component c) as recited by the instant claims.

Promidium Brochure (5/1998) is relied upon as set forth above.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art, at the time the invention was made, to use a specific amide compound (component c) in the composition claims by US 5,977,049, with a reasonable expectation of success, because Promidium Brochure teaches the advantageous properties of using such a compound in a composition as claimed by '049.

Conclusion

3. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Remaining references cited but not relied upon are considered to be cumulative to or less pertinent than those relied upon or discussed above.

Applicant is reminded that any evidence to be presented in accordance with 37 CFR 1.131 or 1.132 should be submitted before final rejection in order to be considered timely.
